

ABSTRACT

A method of producing multifilament superconducting Nb_3Sn wire with low bridging potential during reaction by introducing a diffusion/reaction barrier between the filaments as a radial sheet. The barrier is made of Ta, V, a NbTa alloy or other ductile material.